Fraud

A resident of Renfrew has been victimized by the "Emergency Scam". In this scenario a grandparent received a phone call from a scammer claiming to be a lawyer and that their grandchild had been involved in a car crash. The lawyer requested the victim transfer a quantity of cash via Western Union. To protect yourself from this type of fraud, always check with other family members before sending any cash via a money transfer company. Scammers usually insist on privacy and tell victims not to talk to anyone about this. Always verify the information you have been given. For more information call the Canadian Anti-Fraud Centre at 1-888-495-8501.

An Arnprior resident reported someone attempted to access his banking information through the Microsoft scam. The suspect called the citizen and claimed he was owed a refund and requested his banking information to make the deposit. Some information was shared before the person realized it was probably a scam. The victim's bank was advised and assured no loss had occurred. Protect yourself- if someone wants your personal information over the phone, ask yourself "If I give out that information, am I putting myself at risk?" If the answer is yes or you're not sure, don't answer their questions.
